THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE.

Senator Davis Receives a Bare

Majority on Joint

Ballot.

Lee, Fleming, Fuller and Dunn Vote for the Choice of their Constituents.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 19.—Senator C. K.

Davis was re-elected to the United States senate from Minnesota on Wednesday. But there was no overwhelming majority and before the vote was taken it was an open question as to whether the opposition would be able to break up the Davis followers or not. Every representative and senator was in his seat at the roll call on joint ballot, and if the republican strength had been given to Mr. Davis, his majority would have been 26 instead of one.

The scene was an exciting one and until Speaker Lee's name was called, the last vote, Mr. Davis had not been elected, he only having received 84 votes up to that time. When his name was called and heard his vote for Davis cheers rent the old capital building that would wake the dead.

Hats and handkerchiefs and papers went into the air. It was impossible to store order for some time, but the speaker finally announced the vote as follows:

Davis 85, Owen 24, Laver 48, Mer-

rison 2, Scheffer 2, Clapp 3, Lind 2,

Dickinson 1, Stark 1.

The republicans of Minnesota who elected representatives to the legislature on the principle that the men of their choice would vote for the return of Mr. Davis to the United States senate, and found them wanting when most needed, are censuring those who bolted the caucus nominee in the most severe terms. The 48th district which will be proud of her representatives who stood by the choice of their constituents from first to last.

With the unanimity which had been declared all over the state by republicans for Mr. Davis it was a peculiar incident how close he came to defeat, and one which will go down in history, and those who were untrue to the trust reposed in them only knew for a certainty the whys and wherefores of the combination which was formed to defeat him. It certainly will be an unpleasant task for the members of the twenty-eighth session who were friendly to Davis' return and were elected on that platform but also failed to vote for him, to explain satisfactorily to their constituents why they failed in their duty.

However, the struggle is over and the state of Minnesota is to be congratulated that it was not forever ruined.

Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes

is dead. He died on Tuesday, the 17th inst., of pneumonia of the heart, at the age of seventy years. He was a statesman of the first rank, a brave soldier and a fearless and upright citizen. In his death the country loses one of her most valuable as well as foremost citizens. It is gratifying to see with what unanimity the press of the country have done him justice.

Bro. Strivers of the Journal now claims that he did not want to go to the legislature, he was just a candidate because he wanted to secure a railroad for the northern part of the state, and nobody else could do it but himself. Yet, judging from his action in the last legislature, he wanted to go there to go there for the railroads.

He did no work for his county or anybody else but the railroads then,

and it certainly is not their fault that he is not there now. The people, however, wanted a man to serve them and not the railroads, so Mr. Strivers was not returned.

this city, takes it upon itself to abuse

pany for what it terms its outrageous

MELVIN PHILAY, an Bangor, Me., young gentleman of society in that town, recently broke his collar-bone while trying to don his sister. The unadorned Maine ulster which costs $10 spot cash, is a dangerous thing to fool with.

A WESTPHALIAN city has invented something new in athletics. Between the Grand square and the Munster strasse there are 19 beer shops. A foot race was organized between the two points, but each competitor had to stop at all the beer houses and drink a bumper of ale at each.

An English inventor has devised a method of lubricating the wires in looms for weaving fabrics. It consists in revolving a solid lubricant in tangential contact with the wires, and then moving the wires longitudinally, thus lubricating them in that direction.

The Marquis de Mores shows a disposition to work in a few Panama duels on his own account, and the thing being to look more serious. The marquis contracted the killing habit in Dakota to a degree which renders him a most ineligible adversary on the field of honor.

The latest bazaar freak is that of a wealthy Englishman who, at a charity ball in Venice, paid $5,000 for a single kiss from the Marchioness Palavacini. That costly salute would provide more comfort to the suffering for whom the bazaar was being held than real pleasure to the participants in it.

A YEAR or more ago Deacon White's failure was announced in Wall street with liabilities in the sum of $1,000,000. The deacon can now announce that he has paid his debts, dollar for dollar. If Wall street can spare a few deacons of this stripe, there are several churches wherein they could fill long-felt wants.

An Austrian baron has obtained a separation from his wife on the ground that she was fifteen years older than he claimed to be. Now if this feminist declaration is to be punished so severely, what will become of the Austrian fair sex upon the discovery of any of the other nine hundred and ninety-nine other day fibs which go to make up the dear creature's existence?

An English paper has an account of a fog in the valley of Wensleydale, near Leyburn, which resembled a great lake with rising hills on either side, and the hills were the hills of the valley, while the hillsides above the apparent flood were reflected with extraordinary distinctness in it. The sun was shining brightly at the time, and the mist began to disperse and the mirage to fade away almost immediately.

STUDENTS of natural history have pointed out many instances of animals and birds adapting themselves to changed conditions of life. A somewhat interesting example of this is asserted to be taking place at the present time in Australia. The fleeces of the strains of English sheep imported into that continent are said to be growing decidedly lighter, owing to the fact that the heavy fleece is not necessary under a warmer sky.

Overgrowing, olive-picking and the manufacture of olive oil have become a highly important industry in California. This year the industry has a remarkable boom, and the dealers are entirely unable to meet all the orders they have received. This is especially the case in the Pomona Valley. Everybody engaged in the olive trade—growing, making oil, or acting as brokers—is making unusual profits, and there is a demand for five times the amount of the crop.

The survey for the International railway from the North pole to nowhere is now completed practically from Mexico to the Peruvian railway system, a distance of three thousand miles. The engineer in charge says the road presents no unmanageable engineering difficulties, but declares that whether it would pay to build it is another problem. Certainly it would not with the present population and business only in sight, but the country has wonderful possibilities awaiting development. Engineers Shunk, he will not invest much of his life savings in the enterprise.

GEN. R. B. HAYES IS DEAD.

HIS DEMISE SUDDEN AND UNEXPECTED.

Neuralgia of the Heart, From Which He Had Suffered a Short Time, Caused His Death.

But One Ex-President Left.
Frederick, Jan. 18.—President R. B. Hayes died at 11 o'clock to-night, but the information of his death was not known for some time later, as everything was kept exceedingly quiet in the vicinity of the Hayes mansion. An early report that the condition of ex-President Hayes was improving, and he was not seriously ill, had created much suspicion, so that the sudden appearance of Webb Hayes with the announcement that his father had just died proved a shock to the public.

Ex-President Hayes was brought here last night suffering from an attack of neuralgia of the heart, which he had been suffering from for some time.

The second attack of the kind had occurred within two weeks, and although his condition was regarded as somewhat serious, the encouragement given him by Dr. Hilbert, the family physician, led them to believe that the patient would recover.

For this reason all household members of the ex-president's illness were kept from the public, and the fact that he was suffering from heart trouble did not become generally known.

Dr. Hilbert remained constantly at the distinguished patient's bedside, no alarming symptoms appearing until the evening, when he became rapidly worse.

Ex-President Hayes left home last Monday on a trip to Columbus, Buffalo and Cleveland. At the last mentioned place he spent a few days with his son, Webb C. Hayes. During the last month he had complained of one or two slight attacks of neuralgia of the heart, but as they soon passed away he thought nothing of it.

On Saturday he experienced a severe attack of neuralgia of the heart, and he was unable to get up. He was attended by his son, Webb C. Hayes, and Dr. Hilbert.

The family physician with a carriage, entering the carriage they were driven to the residence of Dr. Hilbert, where all attention was given to the stricken general during the night.

Dr. Hilbert spent most of the day watching the patient, and he was confident that the ex-president had been suffering with a severe attack of heart neuralgia or some other ailment of the heart.

While at Cleveland, but that he realized that the condition was serious, and that the death of the ex-president, when it came, was a terrible surprise.

A number of Oriental princes left for Brainerd Monday evening to attend a council meeting, but their camels because disabled on the way and they had to camp out on the desert.

"A correspondent of the Staples World has the following to offer concerning one of Cass county's new commissioners: "W. W. Bryant is the same old W. W. as he was before he got to be one of the big men of Cass county. He has fought a hard fight but got there just the same. The last resort was to raise the bonds, but even that would not work."

The Midway News is attempting to boom that portion of St. Paul for the location of the new capitol, and severely denounces the Pioneer Press for editorially opposing its claims. The capitol is essentially a business institution and should be located in the business portion of the city. The site of the present capitol is as good a one as could be selected in St. Paul, and if that city is to retain the capitol the new capitol should be on the old site. If it is to be moved from St. Paul, it should be located in the city nearest to the geographical center of the state, which honors the City of the Pines claims. This would probably be the most sensible thing to do if the needs of the future should be considered, but it is not probable that this will be done, and St. Paul, deprived of her honor as the capital city, but at St. Paul is to have it, by all means have it in the heart of the city, as the offices of any other first class business institution would be.

Sheriff Houde, of Little Falls, was a Brainerd visitor yesterday.

Got 12,000.

The case of Andrew Mortenson, of this city, against the Northern Pacific railroad was on trial last week when the Dispatch went to press. On Saturday the jury returned a verdict $12,000 for plaintiff. This is the fourth time the case has been tried, the jury disagreeing in all previous trials. Mortenson, it will be remembered, was a brakeman employed by the Northern Pacific, and sustained serious injuries by being knocked from the top of a freight car by a bridge between Fargo and Moorhead. Hon. W. A. Fleming and W. S. Cushman, of this city and Judge Severance, of St. Paul, were the attorneys for the plaintiff, and T. D. O'Brien and T. R. Selms, of St. Paul, for defendant.

Concerning Our Congressman.

The Washington Correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal has the following to offer:

From present indications Major Baldwin, the Democratic congressman elect from the Fifth Minnesota district, is going to be a prominent figure in the Democratic house during the 53d congress. He has given evidence of more than usual ability since his arrival in Washington last fall. Major Baldwin has a great knack of making friends not only of men who will be his colleagues, but with other prominent officials in the capital city, that will be able to do him a great deal of good when he has to ask for favors, as he will do when he becomes a full-fledged congressman.

Says the Fergus Falls Journal: "Wm. S. Mellen, general manager of the Northern Pacific, is in Washington and his presence in the east is connected with the monetary difficulties of the Northern Pacific. Financial men say that the road has been bankrupted by reckless expenditures and mismanagement. There is general dissatisfaction among the stockholders, who claim that they are deprived of dividends by extravagance of the Northern Pacific managers."

An L. F. & D. Wreck.

The Little Falls Daily Transcript of last Friday gives the following account of an accident which happened last morning to the Duluth train, which was wrecked at 7 o'clock on the morning of that day:

"The wreck on the Little Falls and Duluth yesterday occurred about a mile east of Nank Centre, on the Nank river bridge. It was caused by a broken flange on a wheel of a box car. One freight car and two coaches were thrown from the rails and why they did not roll into the river is a mystery. Had they done so a number of passengers would have been killed or injured. As it is, the only person injured was A. V. Carpenter, who had his fingers bruised. The wrecking crew, consisting of thirty men from Brainerd, went out yesterday afternoon and Superintendent Law went up to the Great Northern. This morning they succeeded in getting the freight car on the track. An effort is being made to get the coaches up without breaking them to pieces, but it is doubtful if it can be done. One of them rests on the piling of the bridge, and is liable to fall into the river at any time. Yardmaster Meyers went out last night with a mail car and a coach so that the train will proceed to Morris as soon as the track is cleared. No. 101 arrived from Brainerd on time this morning, but will wait here until the obstruction is removed, which will probably be this evening."

In Memoriam.

CASTLE HALL WHITE CROSS LODGE No. 30 K. of P. Brainerd, Minn. Jan. 17th, 1893.

Bro. Knights: Again has death entered our Castle Hall and laid his cold hands upon another of our beloved brothers.

Just as the old year had risen to lay aside his mantle and welcome in the new year the dread messenger came and called from us forever our beloved brother, Charles H. Treglawney, and we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

Our brother has gone but his memory lives. In the death of Bro. Treglawney, this body and the order universal has lost an honored member, the ministry a brilliant, faithful and fearless worker, and the family a respected and loving husband and father.

Let us as a lodge by this sad visitation remember that we are but mortal, and that soon follow in the foot steps of our beloved brother.

May we all be ready when the summons comes, to lay off our cares and to willingly give up the joys of this life for a better and more blessed life hereafter.

The family of Bro. Treglawney, this lodge extends its sincerest sympathies in this hour of great affliction.

May an unfaltering trust in God and a risen Christ, and the hope of a resurrection be their comfort and support.

The Master At Arms will see that this Castle Hall is appropriately draped in the keeping of Records and Seal will spread this memorial upon the Records of the lodge, and transmit a copy of the same to the family of the deceased brother, and also copies to the city press.

E. G. SANDERSON, Chancellor Commander.

A Good Word

Uttered in praise of an action that is worthy, or of an article that has real merit, is only what is due. From out of the busy hum and roar of the large iron manufacturing town of Sharpsburg, Pa., comes the following tribute penned by a lady to a leading druggist of that place N. McFadden.

Mr. J. J. Keil, Sharpsburg, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—I am glad to say a good word for Krane's Headache Capsules. After suffering for over three years with acute neuralgia, and its consequent insomnia, which seemed to balk the efforts of some of our best physicians) you suggested this remedy which gave me almost instant relief. Words fail to express the praise I should like to bestow on Krane's Headache Capsules.

Greatfully yours,
Mrs. E. R. HOLLES,

Platform.

One of the best illustrations of "anything to get the con" was a story of the late campaign. A Republican senator from a "free silver state" was asked how he could stand on the platform of his party, as it did not favor his monetary ideas. "Well, it's about this way."

A friend of mine on a pleasant summer day boarded a railway train. As he intended to ride only about five miles, he remained on the car platform, enjoying the scenery and the breeze. Soon the brakeman approached—"Please get inside the car sir." "But it's more pleasant out here!" Orders—passengers not allowed to stand on the platform.

"Well, what's a platform for, if not to stand on?" "What's a platform for? It's not to stand on, sir, but to get in on!" "You see," said the senator, "why I don't care about the anti-silver plank—it's only to get in on." That may do very well for some politicians, but the Harrington stands on, and stands by, the planks of its platform, which are: Best Equipment. Fast Time. Smoothest tracks. Absolute Safety. Sure Connections. Courtesy to Passengers. Special Attention to ladies traveling alone, or in charge of children. Goes everywhere. The Midway News is attempting to boom that portion of St. Paul for the location of the new capitol, and severely denounces the Pioneer Press for editorially opposing its claims.

The capitol is essentially a business institution and should be located in the business portion of the city. The site of the present capitol is as good a one as could be selected in St. Paul, and if that city is to retain the capitol the new capitol should be on the old site. If it is to be moved from St. Paul, it should be located in the city nearest to the geographical center of the state, which honor the City of the Pines claims. This would probably be the most sensible thing to do if the needs of the future should be considered, but it is not probable that this will be done, and St. Paul deprived of her honor as the capitol city. But St. Paul is to have it, by all means have it in the heart of the city, as the offices of any other first class business institution would be.

Got 12,000.

The case of Andrew Mortenson, of this city, against the Northern Pacific railroad was on trial last week when the Dispatch went to press. On Saturday the jury returned a verdict $12,000 for plaintiff. This is the fourth time the case has been tried, the jury disagreeing in all previous trials. Mortenson, it will be remembered, was a brakeman employed by the Northern Pacific, and sustained serious injuries by being knocked from the top of a freight car by a bridge between Fargo and Moorhead. Concerning Our Congressman.

The Washington Correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal has the following to offer:

From present indications Major Baldwin, the Democratic congressman-elect from the Fifth Minnesota district, is going to be a prominent figure in the Democratic house during the 53d congress. He has given evidence of more than usual ability since his arrival in Washington last fall. Major Baldwin has a great knack of making friends not only of men who will be his colleagues, but with other prominent officials in the capital city, that will be able to do him a great deal of good when he has to ask for favors, as he will do when he becomes a full-fledged congressman.

Says the Fergus Falls Journal: "Wm. S. Mellen, general manager of the Northern Pacific, is in Washington and his presence in the east is connected with the monetary difficulties of the Northern Pacific. Financial men say that the road has been bankrupted by reckless expenditures and mismanagement. There is general dissatisfaction among the stockholders, who claim that they are deprived of dividends by extravagance of the Northern Pacific managers."

An L. F. & D. Wreck.

The Little Falls Daily Transcript of last Friday gives the following account of an accident which happened last Thursday to the No. 10 train, which was wrecked at 7 o'clock on the morning of that day:

"The wreck on the Little Falls & Dakota yesterday occurred about a mile east of Sauk Centre, on the Sauk river bridge. It was caused by a broken flange on a wheel of a box car. One freight car and two coaches were thrown from the rails and why they did not run into the river is a mystery. Had they done so a number of passengers would have been killed or injured. As it is, the only person injured was A. V. Carpenter, who had his fingers injured. The wrecking crew, consisting of thirty men from Brainerd, went out yesterday afternoon and Superintendent Law went up on the Great Northern. This morning they had succeeded in getting the freight car on the track. An effort is being made to get the coaches up without running them to pieces, but it is doubtful if it can be done, as one of their rests on the piling of the bridge, and is liable to fall into the river at any time. Yardmaster Meyers went out last night with a small car and coach, so that the train will proceed to Morris as soon as the track is cleared. No. 101 arrived from Brainerd on time this morning. The train will wait here until the obstruction is removed, which will probably be this evening."

In Memoriam.

CASTLE HALL WHITE CROSS LODGE

No. 30 K. of P.

Brainerd, Minn. Jan. 17th, 1893.

Bro. Knights: Again has death snatched our Castle Hall and laid his cold hands upon another of our beloved brothers.

Just as the old year had risen to lay aside his mantle and welcome in the new year the dread messenger came and called from us forever our beloved brother, Charles H. Treglawney, and we bow in humble submission to the Will of our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

Our brother has gone but his memory lives. In the death of Bro. Treglawney, this body and the order universal has lost an honored member, the ministry a brilliant, faithful and fearless worker, and the family a respected and loving husband and father.

Let us as a lodge by this sad visitation remember that we to are but mortal, and must soon follow in the foot steps of our beloved brother. May we all be ready when the summons comes, to lay off our cares and to willingly give up the joys of this life for a better and more blessed life hereafter.

To the family of Bro. Treglawney, this lodge extends its sincerest sympathies in this hour of great affliction.

May an unflinching trust in God and a risen Christ, and the hope of a resurrection be their comfort and support.

The Master At Arms will see that this Castle Hall is appropriately draped and the Keeper of Records and Seal will spread this memorial upon the Records of the lodge, and transmit a copy of the same to the family of the deceased brother, and also copies to the city press.

W. C. SANDERSON, Chancellor Commander.

A Good Word

Uttered in praise of an action that is worthy, or of an article that has real merit, is only what is due. From out of the busy hum and roar of the large iron manufacturing town of Sharpsburg, Pa., comes the following tribute penned by a lady to a leading druggist of that place N. McFadden.

Mr. J. J. Kelly.

DEAR SIR:—I am glad to say a good word for Krause's Headache Capsules. After suffering for over three years with acute neuralgia, and its consequent insomnia, (which seemed to balk the efforts of some of our best physicians) you suggested this remedy which gave me almost instant relief. Words fail to express the praise I should like to bestow on Krause's Headache Capsules.

Greatfully yours,

Mrs. E. R. HOLLAS.

An L. F. & D. Wreck.
The Little Falls Daily Transcript of last Friday gives the following account of an accident which happened last Sunday at the Little Falls bridge, which is located at 7 o'clock on the morning of that day:

"The wreck on the Little Falls and Dakota viaduct occurred about a mile east of Park Landing, on the Sauk river bridge. It was caused by a broken flange on a wheel of a box car. One freight car and two coaches were derailed from the tracks and why they did not roll into the river is a mystery. Had they done so a number of passengers would have been killed or injured. As it is, the only person injured was A. V. Carpenter, who had his fingers bruised. The wrecking crew, consisting of thirty men from Brainerd, went out yesterday afternoon and superintended the work of clearing the wreck. This morning they had succeeded in getting the freight car on the track. An effort is being made to get the coaches up without breaking them to pieces, but it is doubtful if it can be done, as one of them rests on the piling of the bridge, and is liable to fall into the river at any time. Yardmaster Myers went out last night with a mail car and cleared so that the train will proceed to Minneapolis as soon as the track is cleared. No. 101 arrived from Brainerd on time this morning, but will wait here until the obstruction is removed, which will probably be this evening."

In Memoriam.
CASTLE HALL WHITE CROSS LODGE No. 30, K. of L.
Brainerd, Minn. Jan. 17th, 1893.
Bro. Knights: Again has death entered our Castle Hall and laid his cold hands upon another of our beloved brothers.

Just as the old year had risen to lay aside his mantle and welcome in the new year the dread messenger came and called from us forever our beloved brother, Charles H. Treglawney, and we bow to him in submission to the Will of our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

Our brother has gone but his memory lives. In the death of Bro. Treglawney, his lodge and the order universal has lost an honored member, the ministry a brilliant, faithful and fearless worker, and the family a respected and loving husband and father.

Let us as a lodge by this sad visitation remember that we to are but mortal, and must soon follow in the foot steps of our beloved brother.

May we all be ready when the summons comes, to lay off our cares and to willingly give up the joys of this life for a better and more blessed life hereafter.

To the family of Bro. Treglawney, this lodge extends its sincerest sympathies in this hour of great affliction.

May an unflinching trust in God and a risen Christ, and the hope of a resurrection bring them comfort and support.

The Master At Arms will see that this Castle Hall is appropriately draped and the keeper of Records and Seal will spread this memorial upon the Records of the lodge, and transmit a copy of the same to the family of the deceased brother, and also copies to the city press.

E. G. SANDERSON, Chancellor Commander.

Platform.
One of the best illustrations of "anything to get the coon" was a story of the late campaign. A Republican senator from a "free silver state" was asked how he could stand on the platform of his party, as it did not favor his monetary ideas. "Well, its about this way."

A friend of mine on a pleasant summer day boarded a railway train. As he intended to ride only about five miles, he remained on the car platform, enjoying the scenery and the breeze. Soon the brakeman approached—"Please get inside the car sir." "But it's more pleasant out here!" "Orders is—passengers not allowed to stand on the platform."

"Well, what's a platform for, if not to stand on?" "What's a platform for? It's not to stand on, sir, but to get in on." "You see," said the senator, "why I don't care about the anti-silver plank—it's only to get in on." That may do very well for some politicians, but the Burlington stands on, and stands by, the planks of its platform, which are: Best Equipment. Fast Time. Smoothest tracks. Absolute Safety. Sure Connections. Courtesy to Passengers. Special Attention to ladies traveling alone, or in charge of children. Goes everywhere. Procrastination is the Thief of Time.
We offer to the public in the CUBEB COUGH CURE a most excellent cough remedy, both as a preventive, and cure if taken in time, or when first symptoms appear. It never fails to prevent and break up that which otherwise might result in a severe spell of sickness. It is a preventive being so quick and certain in its action. All other cough mixtures, except Cubeb Cough Cure, require from twelve to twenty-four hours time in bringing about a result, or in aiding nature to free itself from the attack. Cubeb Cough Cure should always be used. It can be relied upon as certain and never fails. Being quick and certain in its action it stops all tendency to pulmonary troubles and prevents Pneumonia.

Time is worth everything. Delays are dangerous. No one can afford to run the risk of allowing a cough to develop into Pneumonia, which is nearly always fatal. Cubeb Cough Cure is the only remedy that can be relied on to give quick relief and cures the cold. It will afford relief in one minute, and for that reason is won the title The Sixty Second Kennedy. Cubeb Cough Cure is very pleasant to the taste, is desirable especially where children are required to take medicine. Sold by N. McFadden.
